NEW England Mutual Life Ins.,
Of Boston, Mass., Chartered in 1843.
Capital and accumulation, $650,000.

THIS Company is one of the oldest, and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. The primary object in conducting its business has been to provide perfect security under all conceivable circumstances, for the payment of its losses under its policies, and to return to the insured the surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessments beyond his premium. The directors are required to be peculiarly interested in the company, and they give it their personal attention; and bonds of sufficient security are given by its officers for the faithful performance of their duties.

Insurance may be effected for the benefit of the wife, which is secured to her by law beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the life of their debtor.

The undersigned has been duly appointed Agent of the above named companies, and is now prepared to take risks of fire upon all kinds of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years, at lower rates than most other responsible companies.

All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses of your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops and such like property. In this company all such property is rejected positively, by LETTING THEM ALONE.

Farmers: look to your own interest, and insure in a Farmers' Company.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been obliged to assess our premium notes, and for the last fourteen months we have not had a single dollar loss, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

The best of references given as to the responsibility of the company.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessments beyond his premium. The directors are required to be peculiarly interested in the company, and they give it their personal attention; and benefits of sufficient security are given by its officers for the faithful performance of the duties of insurance may be effected for the benefit of the wife, which is secured to her by law beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of their family.

Highly Important to Farmers.
THE ONLY EXCLUSIVE FARMERS' INSURANCE COMPANY IN THE WEST.

THE MADISON MUTUAL,
LOCATED AT MADISON, WISCONSIN.

THIS Company continues to take risks upon Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years, at lower rates than most other responsible companies. All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made to the satisfaction of the company.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses other than your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing with the company.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops and such like property. In this company all such property is rejected, and insured by LETTING THEM ATONE.

Farmers, look to your own interest, and insure in a Farmers' Company.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been obliged to raise our premium notes, and for the last fourteen months we have not had a single dollar loss, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

The best of references given as to the responsibility of the company.

REMARKS OF GEORGE E. ELY.

AT THE MADISON CONVENTION.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—The antagonism of good and evil was ordained by the creator as an immutable and eternal law, therefore freedom and slavery must remain antagonistic so long as there shall be bond and free. Our fathers at the close of the revolutionary struggle found this antagonism active and determined and the chief obstacle to the formation of the union to which common dangers and sacrifices and common hopes so strongly impelled them.

Looking forward with an eye of faith, they saw that while this antagonism must continue so long as free and slave institutions should exist, they also saw it was beneficially ordained that the evil should not long triumph over the good—that slavery would pale in this our land before the light of freedom. Thus seeing they with hearts buoyant with the hopes of freedom, organized our government by making liberty permanent, while they suffered slavery to exist in the land as an incidental evil shortly they believed, to pass away.

By the ordinance of '87, the anniversary of the passage of which we to day filly celebrate by expressing our hostility to the faithless, the tyrannical domination of slavery, they ordained that our state, that the whole north west should not be cursed by the heaven reproving groans of the bondmen. And by that ordinance—to us the magna charta of liberty—they fixed the condition of all the territory then held by the co-states in common. Even the slave states ordained that on the prairies of the west, their sons should receive the heritage of freedom. But then slavery was weak and it stipulated only for repose, it covenanted to remain passive and quiescent.

The acquisition of Louisiana, in violation of the constitution and justified as a high state necessity brought to us an empire which was terra incognita to the constitution and laws of the union. It was the common property of the co-states and yet the compact of union seemed to exclude the idea of such a property. As it was acquired as a state necessity, so was it held by the general government for the co-states as a state necessity. With this acquisition slavery acquired new vigor, ignored the principles of national freedom and its compact to remain passive which lay at the foundation of the union. It became aggressive—it had ever been tyrannical—it demanded scope for the slave driver's lash—an empire in which to forge only manacles. Freedom resisted. The union was shaken in the contest to its foundation stone. As the acquisition of Louisiana was a state necessity, so the pacification of 1820 as another state necessity granted Missouri and the region south of 36—30 to slavery, while they baptized the region north of that line with freedom. Though the terms of the agreement made it a hard bargain for the north, yet it related to a legitimate subject of compromise. For the territory of Louisiana being, as I have said the common property of the co-states which the national government from necessity held as trustee of the common-wealth of the union, who so competent in 1820 as the representatives in congress of the co-states to decide upon its future condition. They did decide. The north and the south acquiesced in that decision and peace ensued. Thus ratified by the acquiescence of the people and the states, this compromise had the moral force of a constitutional compact which bound and does bind the consciences of all honorable men.

The annexation of Texas and the conquests from Mexico again brought us territory whose condition, so far as the sovereign co-states were concerned, was like unto that of Louisiana at the time of its acquisition, it was also in the hands of the national government as the representative and trustee of the co-states. With this acquisition came the necessity of a new compromise. The legislators of 1850 in the spirit of the compromise of the constitution appealed to the compromise of 1820 and in its spirit enacted the compromise of 1850, and by so doing reaffirmed the compromise of 1820.

I am fellow citizens a democrat, aunker democrat if you will. I have voted and worked with the great national democratic party ever since I had a vote. In 1850 I was with them heart and hand, I approved of the compromise of 1850 as a whole, I despised and abhorred the cruel provisions of the fugitive slave act; but yet I was willing to acquiesce and did acquiesce, I was willing to approve and did approve of the compromise measure of 1850 as a whole. I was willing thus to do; I thus did because I believed the compromise of 1850 to be a reaffirmation of the compromise of 1820. I acquiesced in it as a whole, even in the odious fugitive slave law, because I was willing to abide by all national compromises; and when the supreme court had stricken down the fugitive act of '93, I was willing efficaciously to supply its place. I wished that the law might have been more consonant to the principles of freedom.—I wished that the trial by jury, in fugitive slave cases, might remain inviolate; but my wishes I did not set up against the law.—I acquiesced in, I supported the compromise of 1850 because I believed them to be in the spirit of, to be a reaffirmance of the compromise of 1820. I did not thus alone. Thousands who thought and felt as I did acted as I did. And it was these thousands—freemen—democrats at the north—who loved quiet, who revered the constitution and the compromises of 1820, who wished to see slavery agitation cease—it was these that frowned down agitation, it was these that elected Franklin Pierce president because they confided in his pledges. I voted for him; may God and my country forgive the act. I would speak with all due respect of the president, for he is the chief of our nation, the head of the national government. But while I would so speak of him, truth and the great wrong he has practiced upon the country, demand that I should say that he has made no pledges, which all honorable men regard as binding upon the conscience, which he has not wantonly, wickedly, cruelly violated.

We, the people, elected him president, and no sooner was he in his chair of state, than actuated by the spirit of the very arch-fiend, he bent all his energies to strike down the compromise of 1820, to give over an empire in the heart of the continent to the curse of slavery. He has done it. But the day of just retribution is at hand. The people will mete out justice. The day of compromises is past forever. The final struggle between freedom and slavery has commenced. The freemen of the north have decreed it, and agitation shall cease no more forever in the land, until the aggressions of slavery have been repelled, until Nebraska and Kansas shall be secured to freedom, until the slave power chastised and subdued shall retire, until we shall have realized that it is Divinely ordained evil shall not long triumph over good.

The history of the world teaches us that it has been the great crimes of tyranny that have most advanced the cause of freedom. James, through the Star Chamber sought to crush the spirit of freedom out of the then freest nation in the world. The crimes of the Star Chamber brought Charles' head to the block, produced the protectorate, and originated the bill of rights, more sacred to the liberties of Englishmen than magna charta itself. And so will it be here. The crimes of the Nebraska-Kansas legislation have consigned its authors to an end far more ignominious than that reserved for Charles Stuart. It will produce a sentiment at the north more puissant than the armies of the Protector. It will produce a charter of liberties more glorious than the bill of rights. Yes fellow citizens, the morning of freedom already is dawning and it will be followed by no night.

It is one of the evils of our system, that in quiet times the people cease to feel any interest in politics. Politicians do all the governing, and do it only for the spoils. In their eyes the office has no value aside from the pickings and stealings. It is the chief excellence of our system, that in stirring times, when men are required at the head of affairs, the people can and will take the control into their own hands. And when they do so the race of politicians, men who have crept to the surface and monopolized the titles of honorable, pass off the stage, men who despised office where it had no reward but its stipend—men who loved most the walks of private life—men who are indeed of the people in sympathy and heart—men who ennoble manhood—are brought forward and placed in authority by unbought and incorruptible freemen. And so will it be in this case. Even the democratic party, of which I am, and hope long to continue a member, will be purified and will spew out with loathing the national administration and array itself on the side of right. True, the demagogues who have come to the surface and who chiefly fear the scowl of the powers at Washington may frown and may threaten to read out me and those who stand where I do. Let them commence. They will have a sorry time of it, and at last when they have succeeded they will be in the position of the two artisans of London who went in a garret and commenced resolving, "we, the people of England!" Aye, let them commence, and when they have done, they will have hardly enough left to say "we." But at last, fellow citizens, the true democratic party, that democracy which is enshrined in the hearts of the people must always exist—its leaders may go off but the party will always remain in tact. Its aspirations after freedom, its championship of the rights of man secure its existence. Regarding it in the light of its advocacy of popular rights, it is a glorious party, and I love it. It is the party of the people—it is the people. And you, the people, under whatever name it may be known will always be the representatives, the champions of the true democratic party. Yes, you are here to day because of that championship. You will purify it—you will also purify the Augston stable at Washington of its accumulated filth. Through the ballot box this fall, you will with a power greater far than that of Hercules turn upon its filth a stream more impetuous and purer far than the fabled Alpheus of old. And you will call into life a new order of men—men who will be worthy their revolutionary sires, and even as the gurgling stream bears from the bosom of the mountain spring the autumnal leaves which have lodged upon its bosom, so will incorruptible popular suffrage bear to oblivion the race of politicians who have so long been the crust and scum of society.

THE SHIP-OF-THE-LINE PENNSYLVANIA.—The Portsmouth (Va.) Transcript says orders have been received for dismantling the United States ship Pennsylvania, in consequence of the rotten and damaged condition of her spars and rigging. Here is a single fact that will weigh more with the people, in forming an estimate of the manner in which the affairs of the navy have been conducted, than any amount of declamation or argument. They have been told, in congress and through the newspapers, that this once favorite branch of the public service has been neglected or mismanaged, until it has fallen into a condition of inefficiency and demoralization in the highest degree discreditable to us as one of the greatest commercial nations of the earth.—This disagreeable intelligence has been repeated so often that it has sunk into the minds of many, and we presume the opinion has generally obtained that the credit of the country imperatively demands that something should be done at once to restore the navy to its former state of usefulness and respectability. A fact like the one above stated must deepen that opinion into conviction. The Pennsylvania, at the time her keel was laid, some twenty odd years ago, was intended to be the most powerful vessel-of-war ever put afloat. She was built at Philadelphia, and in 1837 was ready to receive her armament. Her rate is 120 guns, but she is capable of carrying 140. Her tonnage must be considerably over 3000, and her full complement of men, when prepared for active service would be at least 1200. Four or five years after the Pennsylvania was finished, the navy department ordered her around to Norfolk. She was supposed to be scarcely seaworthy at the time, having laid in the Delaware until her timbers had suffered from the ravages of time and the worms. Whether she was really a safe vessel or not, we are unable to say; but the brave old commodore who was invited to take command of her on the voyage down the Delaware and so along the coast to the Gosport yard—the only one she ever made, by the way—declined the perilous service, and she was taken around by an officer of lower rank, reaching her destination in safety; the season being well chosen, and the weather calm and favorable. She has been at the yard ever since, serving as a receiving ship—when a sloop-of-war would have answered the purpose just as well—and all the time going to decay and dilapidation at a rapid rate. She has cost the people all told, not less than a million of dollars, and for all the advantage she has been to the country, the money might just as well have been thrown into the sea.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

LA CROSSE AND MILWAUKEE RAILROAD.—At a quarterly meeting of the board of directors of the La Crosse and Milwaukee railroad company, held on the 19th inst, it was

Resolved, That the route of the La Crosse and Milwaukee R. R., west and north-west from Portage City, is hereby established definitively and finally on the following general route, viz: By the way of valley of the Wisconsin river, to or near a point known as the village of Newport, and thence by the valleys of the Lemonviver and La Crosse rivers, to the village of La Crosse on the left bank of the Mississippi river.

The board, at the same time, indicated an outline of its general policy and plan of operations for constructing the western division of its road, which promises the most gratifying result, and a more speedy completion of the entire line than has heretofore been anticipated.—Free Dem.

To prevent horses being teased with flies, take two or three handfuls of walnut leaves upon which pour two or three quarts of cold soft water; let it infuse one night, and pour the whole next morning into a kettle and let it boil for a quarter of an hour. When cold, it will be ready for use. Nothing more is required than to moisten a sponge with the liquor, and before the horse goes out of the stable, let those parts which are most irritable be smeared over with the liquor, viz: between and upon the ears, the neck, the flank, &c. Not only the lady or gentleman who rides out for pleasure, will derive benefit from the walnut leaves thus prepared, but the coachman, the wagoner, and all others who use horses during hot months.

MONDAY MORNING, JULY 24, 1854.

JANESVILLE CONNECTION WITH THE MILWAUKEE RAILROAD.—The Madison papers are complaining of the delays to passengers at Milton caused by the existing running arrangements of the Milwaukee road with this city, and some person sends us a long article in the Journal with a request to copy. The difficulty arises from the fact that the train from here is run to make the connections with Milwaukee and the Madison connection is a secondary consideration. When the road was opened to Madison, the conductor on the Janesville track ran, on his own responsibility, his train so as to make the Madison connections without delay, in addition to his regular trips. When this became known to the superintendent of the road, we learn, he directed the discontinuance of all except the regular trips, and hence the state of things over which the complaints are now made.

We think the discussion of the matter has been commenced in the right quarter, and we shall publish a portion of the Journal's article. That paper cannot be charged, as we invariably are by some of our kind Milwaukee friends, with a hostile feeling to the company whenever we allude to any of its arrangements except in express laudatory terms. The delays at Milton have been the cause of a good deal of complaint elsewhere than Madison or Janesville, and are no trifling annoyance to passengers. We hope, for the interest of every body concerned, the company itself as well as others, that some arrangements will be made to remedy the evil complained of. The Journal says:

If the Milwaukee company, by a system of force, attempts to compel travel by way of Milwaukee while they have the power, and also establish a tariff of rates for freight so high as to irritate the business or traveling community, will it not operate against them in all future time? It would seem to us clear that it would. They may feel that it will be time to compete when other roads shall be opened; but it would seem to us good policy to keep the good will of the business community from the start; and when they have once secured the favor of a business man they will most likely keep it, and on the contrary, if they lose his favor, he will most likely continue to operate against them. If a spirit of competition is once aroused, we shall expect to see passengers and freight conveyed from this place to Chicago, as cheap as it can be to Milwaukee; (indeed this is already promised,) all which will be of vast advantage to this place and to central Wisconsin generally, but of material disadvantage to the city of Milwaukee.

It would seem to us to be wisdom on the part of the Milwaukee directors, to so conduct their affairs as to give the greatest amount of satisfaction to community, while theirs is the only road leading to this point.

WE publish to-day the speech of G. B. Ely, Esq., of this city, delivered before the Madison convention on the 13th. Mr. Ely has always been a democrat and claims to be one now, but ever since the announcement of the Nebraska bill, has protested against that scheme, and refused to recognize it as a test of democracy. If made a test, or if his party fails in its duty in this crisis, he is prepared to abandon it. Such is the determination of many other democrats. No one claimed or desired in the convention a mere coalition of the whig and free soil parties, but the movement there contemplated a union of men of all parties for the accomplishment of a specific purpose.

MR. Densmore, of the Kenosha Telegraph, denies that he has an illusion to Henry Clay at the Madison convention. We made the charge from a report very current in Madison, and upon the authority of several who asserted they heard him. If Mr. Densmore was misunderstood, we were not alone misled.

FIRST IN MARKET.—The new flour mentioned Saturday, as for sale by Mr. Trussell, was made from wheat raised by Mr. H. B. Johnson, of Johnstown. Mr. J. has contracted for the immediate delivery of several loads more to Mr. Trussell, and is the first seller in market.

TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING.—We were visited yesterday morning again by a heavy shower, accompanied with thunder and lightning. The clerk of the weather is respectfully informed that we don't want any more of the same sort until the harvest is fully completed.

GOOD NEWS.—We learn that the work of framing the timbers for the upper bridge is to commenced to-day. Our citizens have waited patiently much beyond the time it was promised to be completed, and it is but due to them now that the work should be completed with all possible despatch.

THE electors of Whitewater, vote to-morrow on the question of issuing bonds of said town to the amount of $25,000, to aid the Wisconsin Central railroad.

A. B. Vaughan has been appointed postmaster at Union in place of Mr. Frisby, removed from the state.

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD.—The Buffalo Republic says that the chief of police in that city has received notice that a reward of $500 has been offered for the arrest of Robert Schuyler. He is said to be concealed in Canada, and in daily correspondence with his friends in New York, by means of the telegraph wires.

The Houston Telegraph says Gen. Houston will be sustained, in his vote against the Nebraska swindle, by the people of Texas. It gives a list of nearly all the democratic papers in the state, which approve of the general's course and denounce the bill as a "hobby of an aspirant for the presidency."

THE PRINCIPLES OF FRENCH SERVANTS.—In a divorce case in England, the infidelity of Mrs. Caton was attempted to be proved by the servants. All servants have peculiar notions in these matters, but those of French servants in this case were rather odd, for one of them, a cook, said that she knew no impropriety on the part of Mrs. Caton, but if she did, it was contrary to her principles to give information to her husbands on such points.

SALE OF THE SCHOOL LANDS.—Having published an article from the Madison Journal an article reflecting upon the state officers in relation to their sale of the school lands to Mr. Ludington, we give the following explanation as made by the Madison Argus:

A few months ago, James Ludington, appeared at the counter of the school land commissioners with an application to purchase 70,000 acres of school land. He was answered that such an amount would probably comprise nearly or quite all that there was in market. He further stated that if such was the case he would take all there was for sale, and requested the papers to be made out. A thorough examination of the land office books, necessary to the filling up of the papers showed that the amount still for sale was far greater than was estimated, but the fact was not discovered of course till some weeks after the application was made, as it took that length of time to make the examination.—As soon as it was ascertained, Mr. Ludington was informed that instead of there being as estimated only 70,000 or 80,000 acres of land in market, there were about 165,000 acres. He then stated that such an amount was more than he wanted, or wished to spare means to purchase; but that he would take the amount for which he originally applied, being 70,000 acres, and he did so, and paid for it.

The mistake in this matter was certainly an unfortunate one, and whether Mr. Ludington has availed himself of the opportunity to make an unmolesed selection of the best lands, we do not know. Later applicants than Mr. L. we hear were refused, on the ground that he had purchased the whole.

SLAVERY RAMPANT.—The Platte Argus, a paper published in Missouri, seems to be somewhat excited. It publishes the following:

"$200 REWARD.—We are authorized by responsible men in this neighborhood, to offer the above reward for the apprehension and safe delivery into the hands of the squatters of Kansas territory, of one Eli Thayer, a leading and ruling spirit among the abolitionists of New York and New England, recently appointed as a special agent by the murderers of Batchelder, in Boston, to proceed to Kansas for the purpose of examining that territory and making selections of such portions as will suit, for the settlement of twenty thousand abolitionists—including, of course, the nullifiers of the fugitive slave law, the rescuers of the slave Shadrach, and the murderers of Batchelder, a U. S. deputy marshal, in the discharge of his duty. Said Eli Thayer is a representative of the "higher law doctrine," and deputed by the wealthy abolitionists of New York city, Boston and other cities, to "make way" for the abolition paupers, thieves and murderers, who are to settle Kansas for, and in behalf of the worthy employers and colleagues in iniquity of said Thayer. Now, therefore, it behooves all good citizens in Kansas territory, and the state of Missouri, to watch the advent of this agent of abolitionism; to arrest him and deal with him in such a manner as the enormity of his crimes and iniquities shall seem to merit.—Representing all the abolitionists, he consequently bears all their sins, and the blood of Batchelder is upon his head, crying aloud for expiation at the hands of the people. We would counsel "moderation;" but let him, (said Thayer,) carry back to his "abolition confederates" of New England, such evidence on his person, as will be an admonition hereafter, for them not to meddle with our "peace," our institutions, and our rights, under the constitution of the country. Watch the movements of Eli Thayer, and give him a warm reception."

It was the opinion of Benton, Houston, &c., that in case the Missouri compromise was repealed, the result would be an armed conflict on the plains of Kansas, between slave-holders and non-slave holders, which might eventually provoke a civil war.

THE CONVENTION.—The editor of the Watertown Chronicle, who was present at the Madison convention, expressed himself perfectly satisfied with the proceedings. An article in his paper on the subject, closes as follows:

The whole affair was conducted in a spirited manner. The "republican"—a union party—is now formed to prevent the slave power from assuming more than the constitution grants it, and to wrest from its grasp what it has already unjustly taken. The friends of this movement desire to preserve the constitution inviolate; they cannot therefore be said to advocate disunion. The south, as her success shows, stands united for what she thinks to be her interests. Why, then, may not the north, with both might and right on her side, do the same? As long as this republican party is true to its platform, may every freeman bid it "God speed."

ATTACHED.—Yesterday afternoon, under-sheriff Conover attached from $60,000 to $65,000 worth of railroad iron for the benefit of the Milwaukee & Watertown railroad company, the Lake Shore railroad company claiming that it belongs to them. The conflicting claim, we suppose, grew out of the fact that the Bishops were interested in both companies. We understand that the Lake Shore company intend to replevy the iron. Of course the title must be settled by the court.—Free Democrat.

WHAT RAILROADS DO.—A Georgia contemporary, who has just paid a visit to Atlanta, reports, "400 houses now in course of erection," many of them of a fine city like style. Ten years ago Atlanta was in the woods—it now contains a population not far from ten thousand.—The whole amount of taxable property, real and personal, for the present year, amounts to $1,800,000, being an increase of $755,000 over last year.

Mat. Ward, the murderer of professor Butler has left the Arkansas Hot Springs, after a stay of several weeks, and has reached Frankfort, Ky., with several members of his father's family. On his trial for murder he appeared in court with crutches, seemingly enfeebled, but at the Hot Springs by some curious metamorphosis like that of the old French pantomime, the crutches became useless and were thrown aside, and according to the Louisville Courier, he mingled freely in the giddy mazes of cotillion and waltz, apparently in high spirits.

Miss Edwina Dean, sister of the popular Julia Dean, is preparing to make her debut in opera. A second sister Anna, is a musical bud of much promise.

NEW YORK, JULY 19. AFFRAY BETWEEN EDITORS.—A personal affray occurred in this city yesterday between Thomas Francis Meagher and McMaster, editor of the Freeman's Journal. McMaster fired his pistol, and the ball passed over Meagher's left shoulder. McMaster was then knocked down, and the police came up and carried them off to the station house.

The Col's investigating committee have summoned the operators in the House telegraph, with a view of forcing them to divulge the secrets of their office.

THE MADISON MUTUAL,
Capital, $100,000.

THIS Company continues to take risks upon Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years, at lower rates than most other companies. All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses only your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops and such like property. In this company all such property is rejected positively, by written rule.

Farmers, look to your own interest, and insure in a Farmers' Company.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been able to exceed our business, and have a single dollar less, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

REMARKS OF GEORGE B. ELY. AT THE MADISON CONVENTION.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—The antagonism of good and evil was ordained by the creator as an immutable and eternal law, therefore freedom and slavery must remain antagonistic so long as there shall be bond and free. Our fathers at the close of the revolutionary struggle found this antagonism active and determined and the chief obstacle to the formation of the union to which common dangers and sacrifices and common hopes so strongly impelled them.

Looking forward with an eye of faith, they saw that while this antagonism must continue so long as free and slave institutions should exist, they also saw it was beneficially ordained that the evil should not long triumph over the good—that slavery would pale in this our land before the light of freedom. Thus seeing they with hearty buoyant with the hopes of freedom, organized our government by making liberty permanent, while they suffered slavery to exist in the land as an incidental evil shortly they believed, to pass away.

By the ordinance of '87, the anniversary of the passage of which we to day fully celebrate by expressing our hostility to the faithless, tyrannical domination of slavery, they ordained that our state, that the whole north west should not be cursed by the heaven reproving groans of the bondmen. And by that ordinance—to us the magna charta of liberty—they fixed the condition of all the territory then held by the co-states in common. Even the slave states ordained that on the prairies of the west, their sons should receive the heritage of freedom. But then slavery was weak and it stipulated only for repose, it covenanted to remain passive and quiescent.

The acquisition of Louisiana, in violation of the constitution and justified as a high state necessity brought to us an empire which was terra incognita to the constitution and laws of the union. It was the common property of the co-states and yet the compact of union seemed to exclude the idea of such a property. As it was acquired as a state necessity, so was it held by the general government for the co-states as a state necessity. With this acquisition slavery acquired new vigor, ignored the principles of national freedom and its compact to remain passive which lay at the foundation of the union. It became aggressive—it had even been tyrannical—it demanded scope for the slave driver's lash—an empire in which to forge only manacles. Freedom resisted. The union was shaken in the contest to its foundation stone. As the acquisition of Louisiana was a state necessity, so the pacificators of 1820 as another state necessity gained Missouri and the region south of 36—30 to slavery, while they baptized the region north of that line with freedom. Though the terms of the agreement made it a hard bargain for the north, yet it related to a legitimate subject of compromise. For the territory of Louisiana being, as I have said the common property of the co-states which the national government from necessity held as trustee of the common-wealth of the union, who so competent in 1820 as the representatives in congress of the co-states to decide upon its future condition. They did decide. The north and the south acquiesced in that decision and peace ensued. Thus ratified by the acquiescence of the people and the states, this compromise had the moral force of a constitutional compact which bound and does bind the consciences of all honorable men.

The annexation of Texas and the conquests from Mexico again brought us territory whose condition, so far as the sovereign co-states were concerned, was like unto that of Louisiana at the time of its acquisition, it was also in the hands of the national government as the representative and trustee of the co-states. With this acquisition came the necessity of a new compromise. The legislators of 1850 in the spirit of the compromise of the constitution appealed to the compromise of 1820 and in its spirit enacted the compromise of 1850, and by so doing reaffirmed the compromise of 1820.

I am fellow citizens a democrat, aunker democrat if you will. I have voted and worked with the great national democratic party ever since I had a vote. In 1850 I was with them heart and hand, I approved of the compromise of 1850 as a whole. I despised and abhorred the cruel provisions of the fugitive slave act, but yet I was willing to acquiesce and did acquiesce, I was willing to approve and did approve of the compromise measure of 1850 as a whole. I was willing thus to do; I thus did because I believed the compromise of 1850 to be a reaffirmation of the compromise of 1820. I acquiesced in it as a whole, even in the odious fugitive slave law, because I was willing to abide by all national compromises; and when the supreme court had stricken down the fugitive act of '53, I was willing efficaciously to supply its place. I wished that the law might have been more consonant to the principles of freedom. I wished that the trial by jury, in fugitive slave cases, might remain inviolate; but my wishes I did not set up against the law,—I acquiesced in, I supported the compromise of 1850 because I believed them to be in the spirit of, to be a reaffirmance of the compromise of 1820. I did not thus alone. Thousands who thought and felt as I did acted as I did. And it was these thousands—freemen—democrats at the north—who loved quiet, who revered the constitution and the compromises of 1820, who wished to see slavery agitation cease—it was these that frowned down agitation, it was these that elected Franklin Pierce president because they confided in his pledges. I voted for him; may God and my country forgive the act. I would speak with all due respect of the president, for he is the chief of our nation, the head of the national government. But while I would speak of him, truth and the great wrong he has practiced upon the country, demand that I should say that he has made no pledges, which all honorable men regard as binding upon the conscience, which he has not wantonly, wickedly, cruelly violated.

We, the people, elected him president, and no sooner was he in his chair of state, than actuated by the spirit of the very arch-fiend, he bent all his energies to strike down the compromise of 1820, to give over an empire in the heart of the continent to the curse of slavery. He has done it. But the day of just retribution is at hand. The people will mete out justice. The day of compromises is past forever. The final struggle between freedom and slavery has commenced. The freemen of the north have decreed it, and agitation shall cease no more forever in the land, until the aggressions of slavery have been repelled, until Nebraska and Kansas shall be secured to freedom, until the slave power chastised and subdued shall retire, until we shall have realized that it is Divinely ordained evil shall not long triumph over good. The history of the world teaches us that it has been the great crimes of tyranny that have most advanced the cause of freedom. James, through the Star Chamber sought to crush the spirit of freedom out of the then freest nation in the world. The crimes of the Star Chamber brought Charles' head to the block, produced the protectorate, and originated the bill of rights, more sacred to the liberties of Englishmen than magna charta itself. And so will it be here. The crimes of the Nebraska Kansas legislation have consigned its authors to an end far more ignominious than that reserved for Charles Stuart. It will produce a sentiment at the north more puissant than the armies of the Protector. It will produce a charter of liberties more glorious than the bill of rights. Yes fellow citizens, the morning of freedom already is dawning and it will be followed by no night.

It is one of the evils of our system, that in quiet times the people cease to feel any interest in politics. Politicians do all the governing, and do it only for the spoils. In their eyes the office has no value aside from the pickings and stealings. It is the chief excellence of our system, that in stirring times, when men are required at the head of affairs, the people can and will take the control into their own hands. And when they do so the race of politicians, men who have crept to the surface and monopolized the titles of honorable, pass off the stage, men who despised office where it had no reward but its stipend—men who loved most the walks of private life—men who are indeed of the people in sympathy and heart—men who enable mankind—were brought forward and placed in authority by unthought and incorruptible freemen. And so will it be in this case. Even the democratic party, of which I am, and hope long to continue a member, will be purified and will spew out with loathing the national administration and array itself on the side of right. True, the demagogues who have come to the surface and who chiefly fear the scowl of the powers at Washington may frown and may threaten to read out me and those who stand where I do. Let them commence. They will have a sorry time of it, and at last when they have succeeded they will be in the position of the two artisans of London who went in a garret and commenced resolving, "we, the people of England!" Aye, let them commence, and when they have done, they will have hardly enough left to say "we." But at last, fellow citizens, the true democratic party, that democracy which is enshrined in the hearts of the people must always exist—its leaders may go off but the party will always remain in tact. Its aspirations after freedom, its championship of the rights of man secure its existence. Regarding it in the light of its advocacy of popular rights, it is a glorious party, and I love it. It is the party of the people—it is the people. And you, the people, under whatever name it may be known will always be the representatives, the champions of the true democratic party. Yes, you are here to day because of that championship. You will purify it—you will also purify the Auggan stable at Washington of its accumulated filth. Through the ballot box this fall, you will with a power greater far than that of Hercules turn upon its filth a stream more impetuous and purer far than the fabled Alps of old. And you will call into life a new order of men—men who will be worthy their revolutionary sires, and even as the gurgling stream bears from the bosom of the mountain spring the autumnal leaves which have lodged upon its bosom, so will incorruptible popular suffrage bear to oblivion the race of politicians who have so long been the crust and scum of society.

THE SHIP-OF-THE-LINE PENNSYLVANIA.—The Portsmouth (Va.) Transcript says orders have been received for dismantling the United States ship Pennsylvania, in consequence of the rotten and damaged condition of her spars and rigging. Here is a single fact that will weigh more with the people, in forming an estimate of the manner in which the affairs of the navy have been conducted, than any amount of declamation or argument. They have been told, in congress and through the newspapers, that this once favorite branch of the public service has been neglected or mismanaged, until it has fallen into a condition of inefficiency and demoralization in the highest degree discreditable to us as one of the greatest commercial nations of the earth.—This disagreeable intelligence has been repeated so often that it has sunk into the minds of many, and we presume the opinion has generally obtained that the credit of the country imperatively demands that something should be done at once to restore the navy to its former state of usefulness and respectability. A fact like the one above stated must deepen that opinion into conviction. The Pennsylvania, at the time her keel was laid, some twenty odd years ago, was intended to be the most powerful vessel-of-war ever put afloat. She was built at Philadelphia, in 1837 was ready to receive her armament. Her rate is 120 guns, but she is capable of carrying 140. Her tonnage must be considerably over 3000, and her full complement of men, when prepared for active service would be at least 1200. Four or five years after the Pennsylvania was finished, the navy department ordered her around to Norfolk. She was supposed to be scarcely seaworthy at the time, having laid in the Delaware until her timbers had suffered from the ravages of time and the worms. Whether she was really a safe vessel or not, we are unable to say; but the brave old commodore who was invited to take command of her on the voyage down the Delaware and so along the coast to the Gosport yard—the only one she ever made, by the way—declined the perilous service, and she was taken around by an officer of lower rank, reaching her destination in safety; the season being well chosen, and the weather calm and favorable. She has been at the yard ever since, serving as a receiving ship—when a sloop-of-war would have answered the purpose just as well—and all the time going to decay and dilapidation at a rapid rate. She has cost the people all told, not less than a million of dollars, and for all the advantage she has been to the country, the money might just as well have been thrown into the sea.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

LA CROSSE AND MILWAUKEE RAILROAD.—At a quarterly meeting of the board of directors of the La Crosse and Milwaukee railroad company, held on the 19th inst., it was Resolved, That the route of the La Crosse and Milwaukee R. R., west and north-west from Portage City, is hereby established definitely and finally on the following general route, viz: By the way of valley of the Wisconsin river, to or near a point known as the village of Newport, and thence by the valleys of the Lemonowier and La Crosse rivers, to the village of La Crosse on the left bank of the Mississippi river. The board, at the same time, indicated an outline of its general policy and plan of operations for constructing the western division of its road, which promises the most gratifying results, and a more speedy completion of the entire line than has heretofore been anticipated.—Free Dem.

To prevent horses being teased with flies, take two or three handfuls of walnut leaves upon which pour two or three quarts of cold soft water; let it infuse one night, and pour the whole next morning into a kettle and let it boil for a quarter of an hour. When cold, it will be ready for use. Nothing more is required than to moisten a sponge with the liquor, and before the horse goes out of the stable, let those parts which are most irritable be smeared over with the liquor, viz: between and upon the ears, the neck, the flank, &c. Not only the lady or gentleman who rides out for pleasure, will derive benefit from the walnut leaves thus prepared, but the coachman, the wagoner, and all others who use horses during hot months.

The Daily Gazette.

JANESVILLE CONNECTION WITH THE MILWAUKEE RAILROAD.—The Madison papers are complaining of the delays to passengers at Milton caused by the existing running arrangements of the Milwaukee road with this city, and some person sends us a long article in the Journal with a request to copy. The difficulty arises from the fact that the train from here is run to make the connections with Milwaukee and the Madison connection is a secondary consideration. When the road was opened to Madison, the conductor on the Janesville track ran, on his own responsibility, his train so as to make the Madison connections without delay, in addition to his regular trips. When this became known to the superintendent of the road, we learn, he directed the discontinuance of all except the regular trips, and hence the state of things over which the complaints are now made.

We think the discussion of the matter has been commenced in the right quarter, and we shall publish a portion of the Journal's article. That paper cannot be charged, as we invariably are by some of our kind Milwaukee friends, with a hostile feeling to the company whenever we allude to any of its arrangements except in express laudatory terms. The delays at Milton have been the cause of a good deal of complaint elsewhere than Madison or Janesville, and are no trifling annoyance to passengers. We hope, for the interest of every body concerned, the company itself as well as others, that some arrangements will be made to remedy the evil complained of. The Journal says:

If the Milwaukee company, by a system of force, attempts to compel travel by way of Milwaukee while they have the power, and also establish a tariff of rates for freight so high as to irritate the business or traveling community, will it not operate against them in all future time? It would seem to us clear that it would. They may feel that it will be time to compete when other roads shall be opened; but it would seem to us good policy to keep the good will of the business community from the start; and when they have once secured the favor of a business man they will most likely keep it, and on the contrary, if they lose his favor, he will most likely continue to operate against them. If a spirit of competition is once aroused, we shall expect to see passengers and freight conveyed from this place to Chicago, as cheap as it can be to Milwaukee; (indeed this is already promised,) all which will be of vast advantage to this place and to central Wisconsin generally, but of material disadvantage to the city of Milwaukee.

It would seem to us to be wisdom on the part of the Milwaukee directors, to so conduct their affairs as to give the greatest amount of satisfaction to community, while theirs is the only road leading to this point.

We publish to-day the speech of G. B. Ely, Esq., of this city, delivered before the Madison convention on the 13th. Mr. Ely has always been a democrat and claims to be one now, but ever since the announcement of the Nebraska bill, has protested against that scheme, and refused to recognize it as a test of democracy. If made a test, or if his party fails in its duty in this crisis, he is prepared to abandon it. Such is the determination of many other democrats. No one claimed or desired in the convention a mere coalition of the whig and free soil parties, but the movement there contemplated a union of men of all parties for the accomplishment of a specific purpose.

Mr. Densmore, of the Kenosha Telegraph, denies that he is an illusion to Henry Clay at the Madison convention. We made the charge from a report very current in Madison, and upon the authority of several who asserted they heard him. If Mr. Densmore was misunderstood, we were not alone misled.

FIRST IN MARKET.—The new flour mentioned Saturday, as for sale by Mr. Trusdell, was made from wheat raised by Mr. H. B. Johnson, of Johnstown. Mr. J. has contracted for the immediate delivery of several loads more to Mr. Trusdell, and is the first seller in market.

Too MUCH OF A GOOD THING.—We were visited yesterday morning again by a heavy shower, accompanied with thunder and lightning. The clerk of the weather is respectfully informed that we don't want any more of the same sort until the harvest is fully completed.

Good News.—We learn that the work of framing the timbers for the upper bridge is to commenced to-day. Our citizens have waited patiently much beyond the time it was promised to be completed, and it is but due to them now that the work should be completed with all possible despatch.

The electors of Whitewater, vote to-morrow on the question of issuing bonds of aid town to the amount of $25,000, to aid the Wisconsin Central railroad.

A. B. Vaughan has been appointed postmaster at Union in place of Mr. Frisby, removed from the state.

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD.—The Buffalo Republic says that the chief of police in that city has received notice that a reward of $500 has been offered for the arrest of Robert Schuyler. He is said to be concealed in Canada, and in daily correspondence with his friends in New York, by means of the telegraph wires.

The Houston Telegraph says Gen. Houston will be sustained, in his vote against the Nebraska swindle, by the people of Texas. It gives a list of nearly all the democratic papers in the state, which approve of the general's course and denounce the bill as a "hobby of an aspirant for the presidency."

SALE OF THE SCHOOL LANDS.—Having published an article from the Madison Journal in relation to their sale of the school lands to Mr. Ludington, we give the following explanation as made by the Madison Argus:

A few months ago, James Ludington, appeared at the county of the school land commissioners with an application to purchase 70,000 acres of school land. He was answered that such an amount would probably comprise nearly or quite all that there was in market. He further stated that if such was the case he would take all there was for sale, and requested the papers to be made out. A thorough examination of the land office books, necessary to the filling up of the papers showed that the amount still for sale was far greater than was estimated, but the fact was not discovered of course till some weeks after the application was made, as it took that length of time to make the examination. As soon as it was ascertained, Mr. Ludington was informed that instead of there being as estimated only 70,000 or 80,000 acres of land in market, there were about 165,000 acres. He then stated that such an amount was more than he wanted, or wished to spare means to purchase; but that he would take the amount for which he originally applied, being 70,000 acres, and he did so, and paid for it.

The mistake in this matter was certainly an unfortunate one, and whether Mr. Ludington has availed himself of the opportunity to make an unmolested selection of the best lands, we do not know. Later applicants than Mr. L. we hear were refused, on the ground that he had purchased the whole.

SLAVERY RAMPANT.—The Platte Argus, a paper published in Missouri, seems to be somewhat excited. It publishes the following:

"$200 REWARD.—We are authorized by responsible men in this neighborhood, to offer the above reward for the apprehension and safe delivery into the hands of the squatters of Kansas territory, of one Eli Thayer, a leading and ruling spirit among the abolitionists of New York and New England, recently appointed as a special agent by the murderers of Batchelder, in Boston, to proceed to Kansas for the purpose of examining that territory and making selections of such portions as will suit, for the settlement of twenty thousand abolitionists—including, of course, the nullifiers of the fugitive slave law, the rescuers of the slave Shadrach, and the murderers of Batchelder, a U. S. deputy marshal, in the discharge of his duty. Said Eli Thayer is a representative of the 'higher law doctrine,' and is a member of the 'seventy abolitionists' of New York city, Boston and other cities, to 'make way' for the abolition paupers, thieves and murderers, who are to settle Kansas for, and in behalf of the worthy employers and colleagues in iniquity of said Thayer. Now, therefore, it behooves all good citizens in Kansas territory, and the state of Missouri, to watch the advent of this agent of abolitionism; to arrest him and deal with him in such a manner as the enormity of his crimes and iniquities shall seem to merit. Representing all the abolitionists, he consequently bears all their sins, and the blood of Batchelder is upon his head, crying aloud for expiation at the hands of the people. We would counsel 'moderation,' but let him, (said Thayer,) carry back to his 'abolition confederates' of New England, such evidence on his person, as will be an admonition hereafter, for them not to meddle with our 'peace,' our institutions, and our rights, under the constitution of the country. Watch the movements of Eli Thayer, and give him a warm reception."

It was the opinion of Benton, Houston, &c., that in case the Missouri compromise was repealed, the result would be an armed conflict on the plains of Kansas, between slave-holders and non-slave holders, which might eventually provoke a civil war.

THE CONVENTION.—The editor of the Watertown Chronicle, who was present at the Madison convention, expressed himself perfectly satisfied with the proceedings. An article in his paper on the subject, closes as follows: "The whole affair was conducted in a spirited manner. The 'republican'—a union party—is now formed to prevent the slave power from assuming more than the constitution grants it, and to wrest from its grasp what it has already unjustly taken. The friends of this movement desire to preserve the constitution inviolate; they cannot therefore be said to advocate disunion. The south, as her success shows, stands united for what she thinks to be her interests. Why, then, may not the north, with both right and right on her side, do the same? As long as this republican party is true to its platform, may every freeman bid it 'God speed.'"

ATTACHED.—Yesterday afternoon, undersheriff Conover attached from $50,000 to $65,000 worth of railroad iron for the benefit of the Milwaukee & Watertown railroad company, the Lake Shore railroad company claiming that it belongs to them. The conflicting claim, we suppose, grew out of the fact that the Bishops were interested in both companies. We understand that the Lake Shore company intend to replevy the iron. Of course the title must be settled by the court.—Free Democrat.

WHAT RAILROADS DO.—A Georgia contemporary, who has just paid a visit to Atlanta, reports "400 houses now in course of erection," many of them of a fine city like style. Ten years ago Atlanta was in the woods—it now contains a population not far from ten thousand.—The whole amount of taxable property, real and personal for the present year, amounts to $1,800,000, being an increase of $755,000 over last year.

Mat. Ward, the murderer of professor Butler, has left the Arkansas Hot Springs, after a stay of several weeks, and has reached Frankfort, Ky., with several members of his father's family. On his trial for murder he appeared in court with crutches, seemingly enfeebled, but at the Hot Springs by some curious metamorphosis like that of the old French pantomime, the crutches became useless and were thrown aside, and according to the Louisville Courier, he mingled freely in the giddy mazes of cotillion and waltz, apparently in high spirits.

Miss Edwina Dean, sister of the popular Julia Dean, is preparing to make her debut in opera. A second sister Anna, is a musical bud of much promise.

NEW YORK, July 19. A personal fray occurred in this city yesterday between Thos Francis Meagher and Mcmasters, editor of the Freeman's Journal. Mcmasters fired his pistol, and the ball passed over Meagher's left shoulder. Mcmasters was then knocked down, and the police came up and carried them off to the station house.

The Col. investigating committee have summoned the operators in the House telegraph, with a view of forcing them to divulge the secrets of their office.

REMARKS OF GEORGE B. ELY.

AT THE MADISON CONVENTION.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—The antagonism of good and evil was ordained by the creator as an immutable and eternal law, therefore freedom and slavery must remain antagonistic so long as there shall be bond and free. Our fathers at the close of the revolutionary struggle found this antagonism active and determined and the chief obstacle to the formation of the union to which common dangers and sacrifices and common hopes so strongly impelled them.

Looking forward with an eye of faith, they saw that while this antagonism must continue so long as free and slave institutions should exist, they also saw it was beneficially ordained that the evil should not long triumph over the good—that slavery would pale in this our land before the light of freedom. Thus seeing they with hearts buoyant with the hopes of freedom, organized our government by making liberty permanent, while they suffered slavery to exist in the land as an incidental evil shortly they believed, to pass away.

By the ordinance of '87, the anniversary of the passage of which we to day proudly celebrate by expressing our hostility to the faithless, tyrannical domination of slavery, they ordained that our state, that the whole north west should not be cursed by the heinous reproving groans of the bondman. And by that ordinance—the condition of all the territory then held by the co-states in common. Even the slave states ordained that on the prairies of the west, their sons should receive the heritage of freedom. But then slavery was weak and it stipulated only for repose, it covenanted to remain passive and quiescent.

The acquisition of Louisiana, in violation of the constitution and justified as a high state necessity brought to us an empire which was terra incognita to the constitution and laws of the union. It was the common property of the co-states and yet the compact of union seemed to exclude the idea of such a property. As it was acquired as a state necessity, so was it held by the general government for the co-states as a state necessity. With this acquisition slavery acquired new vigor, ignored the principles of national freedom and its compact to remain passive which lay at the foundation of the union. It became aggressive—it had even been tyrannical—it demanded scope for the slave driver's lash—an empire in which to forge only manacles. Freedom resisted. The union was shaken in the contest to its foundation stone. As the acquisition of Louisiana was a state necessity, so the pacificators of 1820 as another state necessity granted Missouri and the region south of 36—30 to slavery, while they baptized the region north of that line with freedom. Though the terms of the agreement made it a hard bargain for the north, yet it related to a legitimate subject of compromise. For the territory of Louisiana being, as I have said the common property of the co-states, the national government from necessity held as trustee of the commonwealth of the union, who so competent in 1820 as the representatives in congress of the co-states to decide upon its future condition. They did decide. The north and south acquiesced in that decision and peace ensued. Thus ratified by the acquiescence of the people and the states, this compromise had the moral force of a constitutional compact which bound and does bind the consciences of all honorable men.

The annexation of Texas and the conquests from Mexico again brought us territory whose condition, so far as the sovereign co-states were concerned, was like unto that of Louisiana at the time of its acquisition, it was also in the hands of the national government as the representative and trustee of the co-states. With this acquisition came the necessity of a new compromise. The legislators of 1850 in the spirit of the compromise of the constitution appealed to the compromise of 1820 and in its spirit enacted the compromise of 1850, and by so doing reaffirmed the compromise of 1820.

I am fellow citizens a democrat, a hunker democrat if you will. I have voted and worked with the great national democratic party ever since I had a vote. In 1850 I was with them heart and hand, I approved of the compromise of 1850 as a whole, I despised and abhorred the cruel provisions of the fugitive slave act; but yet I was willing to acquiesce and did acquiesce, I was willing to approve and did approve of the compromise measure of 1850 as a whole. I was willing thus to do; I thus did because I believed the compromise of 1850 to be a reaffirmation of the compromise of 1820. I acquiesced in it as a whole, even in the odious fugitive slave law, because I was willing to abide by all national compromises; and when the supreme court had stricken down the fugitive act of '33, I was willing effusively to supply its place. I wished that the law might have been more consonant to the principles of freedom. I wished that the trial by jury, in fugitive slave cases, might remain inviolate; but my wishes I did not set up against the law—I acquiesced in it, I supported the compromise of 1850 because I believed them to be in the spirit of, to be a reaffirmation of the compromise of 1820. I did not thus alone. Thousands who thought and felt as I did acted as I did. And it was these thousands—freemen—democrats at the north—who loved quiet, who revered the constitution and the compromises of 1820, who wished to see slavery agitation cease—it was these that frowned down agitation, it was these that elected Franklin Pierce president because they confided in his pledges. I voted for him; may God and my country forgive the act. I would speak with all due respect of the president, for he is the chief of our nation, the head of the national government. But while I would speak of him, truth and the great wrong he has practiced upon the country, demand that I should say that he has made no pledges, which all honorable men regard as binding upon the conscience, which he has not wantonly, wickedly, cruelly violated.

We, the people, elected him president, and no sooner was he in his chair of state, than actuated by the spirit of the very arch-fiend, he bent all his energies to strike down the compromise of 1820, to give over an empire in the heart of the continent to the curse of slavery. He has done it. But the day of just retribution is at hand. The people will mete out justice. The day of compromises is past forever. The final struggle between freedom and slavery has commenced. The freemen of the north have decreed it, and agitation shall cease no more forever in the land, until the aggressions of slavery have been repelled, until Nebraska and Kansas shall be secured to freedom, until the slave power chastised and subdued shall retire, until we shall have realized that it is Divinely ordained evil shall not long triumph over good.

The history of the world teaches us that it has been the great crimes of tyranny that have most advanced the cause of freedom. James through the Star Chamber sought to crush the spirit of freedom out of the then freest nation in the world. The crimes of the Star Chamber brought Charles' head to the block, produced the protectorate, and originated the bill of rights, more sacred to the liberties of Englishmen than magna charta itself. And so will it be here. The crimes of the Nebraska Kansas legislation have consigned its authors to an end far more ignominious than that reserved for Charles Stuart. It will produce a sentiment at the north more puissant than the armies of the Protector. It will produce a charter of liberties more glorious than the bill of rights. Yes fellow citizens, the morning of freedom already is dawning and it will be followed by no night.

It is one of the evils of our system, that in quiet times the people cease to feel any interest in politics. Politicians do all the governing, and do it only for the spoils. In their eyes the office has no value aside from the pickings and stealings. It is the chief excellence of our system, that in stirring times, when men are required at the head of affairs, the people can and will take the control into their own hands. And when they do so the race of politicians, men who have crept to the surface and monopolized the titles of honorable, pass off the stage, men who displayed office where it had no reward but its spoils—men who loved most the walks of private life—men who are indeed of the people in sympathy and heart—men who ennoble manhood—are brought forward and placed in authority by unbought and incorruptible freemen. And so will it be in this case. Even the democratic party, of which I am, and hope long to continue a member, will be purified, and will spew out with loathing the national administration and array itself on the side of right. True, the demagogues who have come to the surface and who chiefly fear the scowl of the powers at Washington may frown and may threaten to read out me and those who stand where I do. Let them commence. They will have a sorry time of it, and at last when they have succeeded they will be in the position of the two artisans of London who went in a garret and commenced resolving, "we, the people of England!" Aye, let them commence, and when they have done, they will have hardly enough left to say "we." But at last, fellow citizens, the true democratic party, that democracy which is enshrined in the hearts of the people must always exist—its leaders may go off but the party will always remain in tact. Its aspirations after freedom, its championship of the rights of man secure its existence. Regarding it in the light of its advocacy of popular rights, it is a glorious party, and I love it. It is the party of the people—it is the people. And you, the people, under whatever name it may be known will always be the representatives, the champions of the true democratic party. Yes, you are here to day because of that championship. You will purify it—you will also purify the Angolan stable at Washington of its accumulated filth. Through the ballot box this fall, you will with a power greater far than that of Hercules turn upon its filth a stream more impetuous and purer far than the fabled Alps of old. And you will call into life a new order of men—men who will be worthy their revolutionary sires, and even as the gurgling stream bears from the bosom of the mountain spring the autumn, so leaves which have lodged upon its bosom, so will incorruptible popular suffrage bear to obliterate the race of politicians who have so long been the crust and scum of society.

THE SHIP-OF-THE-LINE PENNSYLVANIA.—The Portsmouth (Va.) Transcript says orders have been received for dismantling the United States ship Pennsylvania, in consequence of the rotten and damaged condition of her spars and rigging. Here is a single fact that will weigh more with the people, in forming an estimate of the manner in which the affairs of the navy have been conducted, than any amount of declamation or argument. They have been told, in congress and through the newspapers, that this once favorite branch of the public service has been neglected or mismanaged, until it has fallen into a condition of inefficiency and demoralization in the highest degree discreditable to us as one of the greatest commercial nations of the earth.—This disagreeable intelligence has been repeated so often that it has sunk into the minds of many, and we presume the opinion has generally obtained that the credit of the country imperatively demands that something should be done at once to restore the navy to its former state of usefulness and respectability. A fact like the one above stated must deepen that opinion into conviction. The Pennsylvania, at the time her keel was laid, some twenty odd years ago, was intended to be the most powerful vessel-of-war ever put afloat. She was built at Philadelphia, and in 1837 was ready to receive her armament. Her rate is 120 guns, but she is capable of carrying 140. Her tonnage must be considerably over 3000, and her full complement of men, when prepared for active service, would be at least 1300. Four or five years after the Pennsylvania was finished, the navy department ordered her around to Norfolk. She was supposed to be scarcely seaworthy at the time, having laid in the Delaware until her timbers had suffered from the ravages of time and the worms. Whether she was really a safe vessel or not, we are unable to say; but the brave old commodore who was invited to take command of her on the voyage down the Delaware and so along the coast to the Gosport yard—the only one she ever made, by the way—declined the perilous service, and she was taken around by an officer of lower rank, reaching her destination in safety; the season being well chosen, and the weather calm and favorable. She has been at the yard ever since, serving as a receiving ship—when a sloop-of-war would have answered the purpose just as well—and all the time going to decay and dilapidation at a rapid rate. She has cost the people all told, not less than a million of dollars, and for all the advantage she has been to the country, the money might just as well have been thrown into the sea.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

LA CROSSE AND MILWAUKEE RAILROAD.—At a quarterly meeting of the board of directors of the La Crosse and Milwaukee railroad company, held on the 19th inst., it was Resolved, That the route of the La Crosse and Milwaukee R.R., west and north-west from Portage City, is hereby established definitively and finally on the following general route, viz: By the way of valley of the Wisconsin river, to or near a point known as the village of Newport, and thence by the valleys of the Lemonnier and La Crosse rivers, to the village of La Crosse on the left bank of the Mississippi river.

The board, at the same time, indicated an outline of its general policy and plan of operations for constructing the western division of its road, which promises the most gratifying results, and a more speedy completion of the entire line than has heretofore been anticipated.—Free Dem.

To prevent horses being teased with flies, take two or three handfuls of walnut leaves upon which pour two or three quarts of cold soft water; let it infuse one night, and pour the whole next morning into a kettle and let it boil for a quarter of an hour. When cold, it will be ready for use. Nothing more is required than to moisten a sponge with the liquor, and before the horse goes out of the stable, let those parts which are most irritable be smeared over with the liquor, viz: between and upon the ears, the neck, the flank, &c. Not only the lady or gentleman who rides out for pleasure, will derive benefit from the walnut leaves thus prepared, but the coachman, the wagoner, and all others who use horses during hot months.

THE PRINCIPLES OF FRENCH SERVANTS.—In a divorce case in England, the infidelity of Mrs. Caton was attempted to be proved by the servants. All servants have peculiar notions in these matters, but those of French servants in this case were rather odd, for one of them, a cook, said that she knew no impropriety on the part of Mrs. Caton, but if she did, it was contrary to her principles to give information to husbands on such points.

THE HOUSTON TELEGRAPH says Gen. Houston will be sustained, in his vote against the Nebraska swindle, by the people of Texas. It gives a list of nearly all the democratic papers in the state, which approve of the general's course and denounce the bill as a "hobby of an aspirant for the presidency."

The Daily Gazette.

JANESVILLE CONNECTION WITH THE MILWAUKEE RAILROAD.—The Madison papers are complaining of the delays to passengers at Milton caused by the existing running arrangements of the Milwaukee road with this city, and some person sends us a long article in the Journal with a request to copy. The difficulty arises from the fact that the train from here is run to make the connections with Milwaukee and the Madison connection is a secondary consideration. When the road was opened to Madison, the conductor on the Janesville track ran, on his own responsibility, his train so as to make the Madison connections without delay, in addition to his regular trips. When this became known to the superintendent of the road, we learn, he directed the discontinuance of all except the regular trips, and hence the state of things over which the complaints are now made.

We think the discussion of the matter has been commenced in the right quarter, and we shall publish a portion of the Journal's article. That paper cannot be charged, as we invariably are by some of our kind Milwaukee friends, with a hostile feeling to the company whenever we allude to any of its arrangements except in express laudatory terms. The delays at Milton have been the cause of a good deal of complaint elsewhere than Madison or Janesville, and are no trifling annoyance to passengers. We hope, for the interest of every body concerned, the company itself as well as others, that some arrangements will be made to remedy the evil complained of. The Journal says:

If the Milwaukee company, by a system of force, attempts to compel travel by way of Milwaukee while they have the power, and also establish a tariff of rates for freight so high as to irritate the business or traveling community, will it not operate against them in all future time? It would seem to us clear that it would. They may feel that it will be time to compute when other roads will be opened; but it would seem to us good policy to keep the good will of the business community from the start; and when they have once secured the favor of a business man they will most likely keep it, and on the contrary, if they lose his favor, he will most likely continue to operate against them. If a spirit of competition is once aroused, we shall expect to see passengers and freight conveyed from this place to Chicago, as cheap as it can be to Milwaukee; (indeed this is already promised,) all which will be of vast advantage to this place and to central Wisconsin generally, but of material disadvantage to the city of Milwaukee.

It would seem to us to be wisdom on the part of the Milwaukee directors, to so conduct their affairs as to give the greatest amount of satisfaction to community, while theirs is the only road leading to this point.

We publish to-day the speech of G. B. Ely, Esq., of this city, delivered before the Madison convention on the 18th. Mr. Ely has always been a democrat and claims to be one now, but ever since the announcement of the Nebraska bill, has protested against that scheme, and refused to recognize it as a test of democracy. If made a test, or if his party fails in its duty in this crisis, he is prepared to abandon it. Such is the determination of many other democrats. No one claimed or desired in the convention a mere coalition of the wing and free soil parties, but the movement there contemplated a union of men of all parties for the accomplishment of a specific purpose.

Mr. Densmore, of the Kenosha Telegraph, denies that he held an illusion to Henry Clay at the Madison convention. We made the charge from a report very current in Madison, and upon the authority of several who asserted they heard him. If Mr. Densmore was misunderstood, we were not alone misled.

FIRST IN MARKET.—The new flour mentioned Saturday, as for sale by Mr. Trussell, was made from wheat raised by Mr. H. B. Johnson, of Johnstown. Mr. J. has contracted for the immediate delivery of several loads more to Mr. Trussell, and is the first seller in market.

TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING.—We were visited yesterday morning again by a heavy shower, accompanied with thunder and lightning. The clerk of the weather is respectfully informed that we don't want any more of the same sort until the harvest is fully completed.

GOOD NEWS.—We learn that the work of framing the timbers for the upper bridge is to commenced to-day. Our citizens have waited patiently much beyond the time it was promised to be completed, and it is but due to them now that the work should be completed with all possible despatch.

THE ELECTIONS OF WHITEWATER, vote to-morrow on the question of issuing bonds of said town to the amount of $25,000, to aid the Wisconsin Central railroad.

A. B. VAUGHAN has been appointed postmaster at Union in place of Mr. Frisby, removed from the state.

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD.—The Buffalo Republic says that the chief of police in that city has received notice that a reward of $500 has been offered for the arrest of Robert Schuyler. He is said to be concealed in Canada, and in daily correspondence with his friends in New York, by means of the telegraph wires.

THE HOUSTON TELEGRAPH says Gen. Houston will be sustained, in his vote against the Nebraska swindle, by the people of Texas. It gives a list of nearly all the democratic papers in the state, which approve of the general's course and denounce the bill as a "hobby of an aspirant for the presidency."

SALE OF THE SCHOOL LANDS.—Having published an article from the Madison Journal an article reflecting upon the state officers in relation to their sale of the school lands to Mr. Ludington, we give the following explanation as made by the Madison Argus:

A few months ago, James Ludington, appeared at the counter of the school land commissioners with an application to purchase 70,000 acres of school land. He was answered that such an amount would probably comprise nearly or quite all that there was in market. He further stated that if such was the case he would take all there was for sale, and requested the papers to be made out. A thorough examination of the land office books, necessary to the filling up of the papers showed that the amount still for sale was far greater than was estimated, but the fact was not discovered of course till some weeks after the application was made, as it took that length of time to make the examination.—As soon as it was ascertained, Mr. Ludington was informed that instead of there being as estimated only 70,000 or 80,000 acres of land in market, there were about 165,000 acres. He then stated that such an amount was more than he wanted, or wished to spare means to purchase; but that he would take the amount for which he originally applied, being 70,000 acres, and he did so, and paid for it.

The mistake in this matter was certainly an unfortunate one, and whether Mr. Ludington has availed himself of the opportunity to make an unselected selection of the best lands, we do not know. Later applicants than Mr. L. we hear were refused, on the ground that he had purchased the whole.

SLAVERY RAMPANT.—The Platte Argus, a paper published in Missouri, seems to be somewhat excited. It publishes the following:

"$200 REWARD.—We are authorized by responsible men in this neighborhood, to offer the above reward for the apprehension and safe delivery into the hands of the squatters of Kansas territory, of one Eli Thayer, a leading and ruling spirit among the abolitionists of New York and New England, recently appointed as a special agent by the murderers of Batchelder, in Boston, to proceed to Kansas for the purpose of examining that territory and making selections of such portions as will suit, for the settlement of twenty thousand abolitionists—including, of course, the nullifiers of the fugitive slave law, the rescuers of the slave Shadrach, and the murderers of Batchelder, a U. S. deputy marshal, in the discharge of his duty. Said Eli Thayer is a representative of the 'higher law doctrine,' and depicted by the wealthy abolitionists of New York city, Boston and other cities, to 'make way' for the abolition paupers, thieves and murderers, who are to settle Kansas for, and in behalf of the worthy employers and colleagues in iniquity of said Thayer. Now, therefore, it behooves all good citizens in Kansas territory, and the state of Missouri, to watch the advent of this agent of abolitionism; to arrest him, and deal with him in such a manner as the enormity of his crimes and iniquities shall seem to merit.—Representing all the abolitionists, he consequently bears all their sins, and the blood of Batchelder is upon his head, crying aloud for expiation at the hands of the people. We would counsel 'moderation' but let him, (said Thayer,) carry back to his 'abolition confederates' of New England, such evidence on his person, as will be an admonition hereafter, for them not to meddle with our 'peace,' our institutions, and our rights, under the constitution of the country. Watch the movements of Eli Thayer, and give him a warm reception."

It was the opinion of Benton, Houston, &c., that in case the Missouri compromise was repealed, the result would be an armed conflict on the plains of Kansas, between slave-holders and non-slave holders, which might eventually provoke a civil war.

THE CONVENTION.—The editor of the Watertown Chronicle, who was present at the Madison convention, expressed himself perfectly satisfied with the proceedings. An article in his paper on the subject, closes as follows: "The whole affair was conducted in a spirited manner. The 'republican'—a union party—is now formed to prevent the slave power from assuming more than the constitution grants it, and to wrest from its grasp what it has already unjustly taken. The friends of this movement desire to preserve the constitution inviolate; they cannot therefore be said to advocate disunion. The south, as her success shows, stands united for what she thinks to be her interests. Why, then, may not the north, with both night and right on her side, do the same? As long as this republican party is true to its platform, may every freeman bid it 'God speed.'"

ATTACHED.—Yesterday afternoon, undersheiff Conover attached from $80,000 to $85,000 worth of railroad iron for the benefit of the Milwaukee & Watertown railroad company, the Lake Shore railroad company claiming that it belongs to them. The conflicting claim, we suppose, grew out of the fact that the Bishops were interested in both companies. We understand that the Lake Shore company intend to replevy the iron. Of course the title must be settled by the court.—Free Democrat.

WHAT RAILROADS DO.—A Georgia contemporary, who has just paid a visit to Atlanta, reports "400 houses now in course of erection," many of them of a fine city like style. Ten years ago Atlanta was in the woods—it now contains a population not far from ten thousand. The whole amount of taxable property, real and personal, for the present year, amounts to $1,800,000, being an increase of $755,000 over last year.

MAT. WARD, the murderer of professor Butler has left the Arkansas Hot Springs, after a stay of several weeks, and has reached Frankfort, Ky., with several members of his father's family. On his trial for murder he appeared in court with crutches, seemingly enfeebled, but at the Hot Springs by some curious metamorphosis like that of the old French pantomime, the crutches became useless and were thrown aside, and according to the Louisville Courier, he mingled freely in the giddy mazes of cotillion and waltz, apparently in high spirits.

MISS EDWINA DEAN, sister of the popular Julia Dean, is preparing to make her debut in opera. A second sister Anna, is a musical bud of much promise.

NEW YORK, JULY 19. AFFRAY BETWEEN EDITORS.—A personal affray occurred in this city yesterday between Thos Francis Meagher and Mcmasters, editor of the Freeman's Journal. Mcmasters fired his pistol, and the ball passed over Meagher's left shoulder. Mcmasters was then knocked down, and the police came up and carried them off to the station house.

The Golt investigating committee have summoned the operators in the House telegraph, with a view of forcing them to divulge the secrets of their office.
